

How to play.

The game may be played with 4 teams of children, or as individual players. An adult, parent, guardian or teacher asks the questions as the children move around the board and land on the topical squares the children then confer (when working in teams) offering the answer they believe to be correct. This allows you to educate the children and assess their knowledge on each individual topic, identifying any knowledge gaps. This enables you to act according to their specific needs.

Each child or team will start with 20 points and additional points are added when questions are answered correctly.

Points can be deducted for incorrect questions, but this is at the discretion of the adult depending on the age of the child, we have found that taking points away for a wrong answer can have a negative effect on that child.

The Risk questions allow the child/team to pass a question over to another child/team and challenge them to answer that question for them, the Risk are all multi-choice and include scenarios using the TC Kids characters, the decision to answer or pass the question onto another child/team should be made before the question is offered to that child/team the points are then added or deducted accordingly.

The Signs questions are graphical where each sign has to be identified by the image they are shown.

There is plenty of opportunity for the adult or teacher to open up a discussion on any area or topic that any child/team is unsure about and award more points.

The WISE UP safety game has been tried and tested in several primary schools throughout the UK to check its conformity with the national curriculum. All feedback has been very positive and all questions and answers have been thoroughly researched and checked by the Education Authorities, HSE and Emergency Services.
